Rea! Estate Men Appeal to the Mayor and City Council.

Commercial Club Will Make Further Inquiries Ba fore Committing Diself

Unqualified indo sement of B. Mahler's interurban rallway project was given by the Salt Lake Real Estate association at a meeting held yesterday afternoon, and the Mayor and City Council were recommended to grant to the enterprise such franchise as it may need for passage through the business part of the city, it being understood, however, that this recommendation applies only in the event that traffic arrangements are not made with the Utah Light & Railway company.

Board Will Investigate.

The Commercial club board of gov ernors also held a meeting, which was called for the express purpose of considering the interurban railway proposition. While this body regarded the enterprise with favor, it decided after a two and a half hours' session, during which the matter was quite thoroughly discussed, that no definite action should be taken until further investigation could be made concerning the reliability and good faith of the persons promoting the new road. It was desired that it be understood there was no reflection upon Mr Mahler in this decision, but only that in a matter of so much importance the board deemed it wise to have all of the facts in its possession before making any recom-mendation. The board adjourned for one week to give itself time to obtain all of the facts.

Real Estate Men Interested.

There was a full attendance at the meeting of the Real Estate association, and the deepest interest was taken in the rallway project. Addresses of con-siderable length, discussing the projecin all its phases, were made by Mr. Mahler, Senator Reed Smoot and Judge S. R. Thurman of Provo, and most of the association members were heard. At the close of the discussion a resolution favoring the enterprise was passe unanimously, and a committee of five was appointed to present the matter of a franchise to the Council and urge its passage on behalf of the association. This committee is composed of J. W. Houston, E. S. Darling, S. B. Tuttle, J. L. Perkes and Glen Miller. The resolution is as follows:

Resolutions Adopted.

Whereas, Mr. B. Mahler and associates have been and are interested in promoting the interurban railroad between Payson on the south and Logan on the north, and franchises have been granted in every city and town through which the proposed line is to pass, with the exception of Salt Lake fifty and Ogden, which cities will receive the most benefits from such line, and in order to keep the franchises already granted in force in other cities, they must act immediately, and after looking into the reliability of Mr. Mahler and associates, we find that they have demonstrated by their operations in other cities that they are reliable and will fullcities that they are reliable and will full-fil their promises and build such line as will be for the benefit of Sait Lake City and the other cities they pass through and recognizing that this would be of per-ticular benefit to the real estate people of Water Meter Question.

The question of the adoption of water meters for the residence districts of the city was also taken up by the asso-clation, and the consensus of opinion was that the plan would be detrimental and inimical to the best interests of th city, A memorial to the City Council, protesting against the adoption of the meter system and giving a number reasons for the opposition, was drafted and adopted. Among the reasons cited are that the adoption of meters will in wise solve the problem of increasing the city's water supply, but, on the other hand, the cost of maintaining the meters would in a short time total an amoun sufficient to purchase most of the water rights tributary to the city; that the meters now in use are wholly unre liable, the readings of many varying from 200 to 600 per cent from month to month, while the amount of water consumed is virtually unchanged the use of meters would inch owners to the practice of degree of economy in the use of water which would be rulnous to lawns and thus impairing the value property, and that the system would ultimately be a great and useless burden upon the taxpayers.

NEW LIQUOR LAW PASSED

Restaurants Forbidden to Sell Booze.

Action Was Taken After a Warm and Exciting Debate.

Mayor Morris Vetoes Paving Reports and Suggests a Solution of the Difficulty.

After action last night by the City Council, in passing Councilman Fernstrom's amendment to the liquor ordinance, the saloon men have every reason to be pleased. Under the ordinance as it reads the sale of liquor by a restaurant, hotel, boarding or rooming-house, is for bidden. Drug stores are not allowed to sell more than five gallons without a wholesale license, or less than a halfpint without a retailer's license. A manufacturer's license is established at $150. a retail dealer's at $300, a wholesaler's at $250 and a druggist's at $100, every quarter. Disapproved by the Mayor.

A veto from the Mayor on the report of the Council as a committee of the whole, on the paving of Brigham street, was also received and read, although the reading was afterward stricken out as being out of order. Mayor Morris's rea-son for vetoing the plan was the pro-vision for a walver of damages. Without vision for a walver of damages. Without that proviso, wrote the Mayor, the action of the Council met with his approval. He maid that some of those interested in the improvement have offered to furnish bonds for $50,000 to be held by the Utah Savings & Trust company, to indemnify the city against all claims. The Mayor recommended that the proviso be eliminated and the bond accepted. The City Attorney was quoted as saying that the bond afforded ample and abundant protection to the city.

Asks Damages for a Runaway.

Chief among the petitions that came before the Council last night were those of Julius Hauerbach, Hansena Hauerbach and Martha Aim, being claims for damages. That of Julius Hauerbach was a claim for $300, the other two for $2500 apiece. The petitions stated that the man was driving a buggy with the ladies in it and that the large rocks in the middle of Peach street, down which they were driving, caused the horse to run away. From Oak street to the intersection of Main street there is a very steep grade, with a fall of about thirty feet in 100. At the intersection of Peach and Oak streets there is a ravine, which entails great danger for any one driving down who does not know the locality well. It was 8:45 p. m. on the 19th of August when the accident occurred. The buggy was overturned and the occupants thrown out, after which the animal boilted and smashed the trap. The petitions state that the officers of Sait Lake City have known of the state of those streets for some time, and have taken no steps to alter the existing conditions. Asks Damages for a Runaway.

Cemetery Wants Relief.

Councilman Tuddenham advocated the petition of the Brigham Young Cemetery association, asking for a remission of $751 assessment for laying down an asphalt paving on First street. The trustees said that the interest from the fund was barely sufficient to proserity eare for was barely sufficient to properly care for the grounds. Tuddenham moved for an appropriation to cover the amount, and the matter was referred to the commit-

The City Attorney recommended that the City Treasurer and Recorder be directed to deliver the deed to Mr. Helnze. The matter was referred to the committee.

Offer Asphalt for Sale.

Petitions were received from the Union Oil and Asphalt company, offering for sale some asphalt claims, fifteen miles from the terminus of the Uintah rallroad, of 100 acres each, in which they claimed that the vein was from ten to thirty feet thick; from Fred L. Wood and others calling attention to the stable at Lo West First South, setting out that tit was menace to public bealth, an offense public decemby and a menace to life a property; from Robert Soker, Jr., ask property; from Robert Stoker, and the Council to examine a smoke continuous which he said was in operation at the Oquirrh school, and which could be put in the city boiler at a cost of $200. These petitions were ordered filed and referred to the committees.

Lively argument was heard between Councilmen Hobday and Barnes over the proposal to construct a speedway in Lib-erty park. The matter came up on a motion of Councilman Fernstron to pass his amendment to the existing ordinance. Then Councilman Hobday came forward with his substitute bill. This provided that any hotel, boarding-house or restaurant-keeper who had any kind of booths on his premises should be compelled to pay accordingly for his license. The license for this class was to be on the same scale as that for a saloon, 11200 a year. Restaurants, etc., without booths, would have to pay a license of $400 a year.

Objections of Fernstron

The objections of Fernstrom.

The objection raised by Fernstrom and Barnes, which finally killed this ordinance, was that it did not prohibit women and minors from entering the booths and taking liquor there. There was a clause which placed the restaurant with booths under the same police regulations as saloons. Councilman Hobday had been under the impression from what City Attorney Dey had teid him that that clause would regulate that matter. But when the City Attorney was called in he been under the impression from what City Attorney bey had told him that that clause would regulate that matter. But when the City Attorney was called in ho said that there was nothing in the bill to prevent women from being served in the booths.

Hobday Makes a Confession

During this discussion many interesting facts came to light. Councilman Hob-day, for one, said that he was in favor of allowing salconkeepers to be open for two or three hours on Sunday. The announcement has been made that an autumn season of grand opera, with a full company from the San Carlo Theater. Naples, will be given at the Covent Garden, and it appears that Miss Alice Nielsen will be the chief soprano of the company, says a London dispatch.

One of Miss Nielsen's most ambitious efforts will be made in one of Puccini's operas, "La Boheme," in which she will sing the exacting role of Mimi Pinson. She will also undertake the pasts of Violotte in "Traviata," Gilda in "Rigoletto" and Rosina in the "Barber of Seville." Much interest is taken generally in the undertaking, for London has not had an autumn season of opera for ten years past, when the late Sir Augustus Harris made the attempt.

Mayberry Hearing Postponed.

The unavoidable absence of Drs. Odell and Mayo from the Mayberry insanity hearing, which was to have been held before Judge Morse in the Third District court last evening, resulted in a post-ponement of the case until next Monday night, September 25.

Mrs. Mayberry was present and appeared to be perfectly composed and same. When asked by her attorneys if she favored an adjournment to the said date, she replied: "It is immaterial to me."

A large number of witnesses were present, and many others who are interested in the case. They waited patiently for nearly an hour and were visibly disappointed when the court announced that it was too late to undertake a hearing, and suggested an adjournment.
